Historian	3 - Neutral	3 - Neutral	4 - Agree	4 - Agree	4 - Agree	4 - Agree		Sometimes the ways to get to different pages doesn't seem that logical, such as where to find members versus pledges. Also I always get confused by the profile picture website but that's not the APO website itself		4 or 5 times a 3 week	3 - Neutral	It's always nice to see the detailed view of our membership progress, I really like that part.	Maybe some way to "find" alumni based on their interests/degrees? I know the alumni part of the site is still pretty new but some sort of sorting mechanism for that would be awesome. As historian I also think it would be cool if I could upload pictures to the website somehow, although Facebook works really well for that too.
Pledge Educator	3 - Neutral	4 - Agree	3 - Neutral	2 - Disagree	4 - Agree	4 - Agree	The website isn't really that flawed just for regular uses. I can still access profiles, phone numbers, and general information as a brother fairly easily. As an exec dude, it is a little more complicated. Mainly that is just because of the placement of some features (deleting accounts for example) is not intuitive.	Having to log in every time I access the website, even from the same computer. Something with the alphabetizing is inconsistent. Sometimes it is alphabetized by first name and sometimes it is by last name. It makes it rough to do attendance properly.		6 or more times a 3 week	1 - Strongly Disagree	The navigation menu. Everything is fairly concise and easy to reach for typical brother uses.	Assigning a pokemon to every brother based on a short survey submitted as a pledge. Especially when going beyond the original pokemon, there would definitely be enough.

							I think the part of the website that needs most improving is the navigation. The exec links are okay, but I didn't even know they existed when I was Pledge Ed until I had to list the Biggable Brothers. The Biggables page had not been updated for a few semesters before I did it, so I know other Pledge Ed's must have had the same issue trying to find out where the links were.
							Once you get used to the website it's okay, but there's a definite learning curve due to the poor navigation. Also, if we could just upload pictures from browsing our own files (rather than using Gravatar) that would be AWESOME.	Navigation and aesthetics		4 or 5 times a week	5 - Strongly Agree	The profiles.	Easy upload photos link Easy submit photos to the historian link (does this already exist?)

							I think the style in general is just outdated. Links are kind of boring and not as clean. Exec links sometimes are hard to find- perhaps the interface for exec members should be different?; or maybe just have it clearly sectioned off at least.	Nothing is that bad- if I had to say, maybe trying to find important documents sometimes and navigating through the exec links		2 or 3 times a week	4 - Agree	people's profiles are fun	new style in general

Membership VP, Secretary	2 - Disagree	5 - Strongly Agree	4 - Agree	3 - Neutral	4 - Agree	4 - Agree	The website is not easy to navigate. I always spend like 30 minutes trying to figure out how to sign up for brother to brother every semester! Otherwise, other navigation problems I have is that I can't go directly from approving service hours to looking at contract statuses. In other words, I have to go back to my exec page every time I want to switch gears. I wish there was a tab somewhere that had all my main page links everywhere. I also wish I didn't have to type in a new url (apo.case.edu/exec/membership) after logging in on the main page. I want to be able to get to those links when I'm just signing in on the main page.	Navigation is hard. I hate when I'm trying to look at the bylaws and I have to scroll over members area then move my cursor to documents and then finally get to the bylaws or service guidelines! I also can never find anything.		6 or more times a week	3 - Neutral	I couldn't do my job without it! I don't know how we ever kept track of hours before.	I think tracking who has been active/associate/inactive each semester would be a useful tool for membership, but these should be stats that ONLY MEMBERSHIP should see - no one else. That's kinda confidential stuff.

							I think the panel with my personal information (the contract stuff) could be more prominently placed. While I don't hate it, I use it more than any other feature on the website so I'd like to see it more front-and-center. As Boy Scout Ambassador, I really have a quasi-exec job more than a full-on one. Is it possible to have a section in the future with any useful tools for that position that I may stumble upon this semester? That way the next person with this job would also benefit.	On another note, the built-in Google Calendar is a little cramped in the current formatting of the site and not necessarily easy to read at a glance. You might even consider placing this on the home page as well, as it's another frequently-used feature.		2 or 3 times a week	3 - Neutral	Corresponding with my previous question, I use the personal info panel for tracking my contract more than other parts of the site. For sheer usefulness it can't be beat. The general information sections (about the chapter, etc.) are also quite nice. Overall this is a very comprehensive website. I'm also in Theta Chi and we'd be lucky if our website was half this useful.	Mobile Mode (for smartphones). Though that's probably a lot of work, I would absolutely love to see it happen at some point. That or a full mobile app, but perhaps that is a project for another day.
